

Protect Children's Health -and yours - in a Wireless World

What public health officials, doctors, educators and parents need to know in this digital age

IN VICTORIA, BC

SCIENTIST MARTIN BLANK, PHD cell biologist, Columbia University, author of the forthcoming book Overexposed (Seven Stories, 2014)

▶ Brief Summary of the Science – Evidence of biological effects from electro-magnetic radiation exposure in peer-reviewed, published studies includes: DNA damage, leakage of the blood-brain barrier, stress protein synthesis. These occur at 'low' government-sanctioned levels. Dr Blank explains why government safety standards are not accurate and not protecting us.

CARDIOLOGIST STEPHEN SINATRA, MD, FACC board-certified cardiologist, Co-founder Doctors For Safer Schools

▶ Wireless Microwave Radiation – new Cardiac Risk Factor and Electro-sensitivity – new Medical Condition

Dr Sinatra cautions 'this exposure is the greatest medical threat of our time.' He details: cardiac symptoms that may be related; why these are usually misdiagnosed; why the heart is vulnerable; students in Wi-Fi schools with 'unexplained' cardiac and other symptoms; how doctors can recognize and treat electro-sensitivity and recommendations for the future.

HEALTH EDUCATOR KERRY CROFTON, PHD Co-founder Doctors For Safer Schools, author of A Wellness Guide For The Digital Age (Global WellBeing Books, 2013)

▶ Safer-tech Solutions For All Things Wired and Wireless
Easy-to-implement ways to reduce exposure to benefit people with related conditions: cardiac and neurological symptoms, sleep disruption, vertigo, tinnitus, skin rashes, electro-sensitivity, and children on the Autism spectrum.
